NEAR-NEWS AND CHATTER FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

To the lady first correctly guessing the identity of the person of whom the following is a character sketch, and bringing a copy of this paper to The Tribune office, a cash prize of $1.00 will be given. The subject of the sketch is a prominent citizen of La Crosse. After winning one prize, a contestant will not be eligible to again compete for a period of three months.

George B. Marvin was the subject of last week's "Guess Who's Here" puzzle, the winner being Mrs. A. Drake.

GUESS WHO'S HERE

If he were to take to the tall timber, he wouldn't be knee high to the stumps. By the way, he got into politics without taking to the stump, and he's never up a stump as to what his constituents want. He's (land) lord of all he surveys, which is one thing he's got on his friend Bradish. He'll make it on a two-suiter and bridge it on a queen, and he'll finesse a seven-spot and an ordinance with equal sang froid. He likes to hark back to the good old days of the Winneshiek club, when men were men and law was nothing and devilment held tourney whenever young fellows got together. But that's all changed now. On the shady side of forty, he holds wrecking club rooms and burning barns to lack dignity. So he keeps open house for the fellows he met clerking in other people's hotels, and he feeds them and sleeps them until they admit that, "Home ain't nothin' like this." Frankly, he's a democrat. He never gets cold feet, but if he should have a chill you might take him for an ice cream cone.

YARNS OF THE TOWN.

"Hello! Is this Hayes' Transfer?"

"Well this is Secretary Van Auken's office at the fair grounds. We want to send a hog to the depot. Can you send a team out here?"

George Main, chief clerk of the Fair association, hung up the phone and turned his attention to other things. Meanwhile employes, amid appropriate perspiration and language, crated a great Berkshire for shipment. Then all hands stood awaiting the transfer wagon.

Presently a carriage drove up, and waited outside the office. No one paid any attention to it. Finally the driver said:

"Where's your party for the depot?"

"Heavens!" exclaimed Mr. Main. "You got fussed. I said I wanted to send a hog to the depot."

"Well, bless me!" exclaimed the driver. "I thought you said a hack."

A Story, not of this town, but good enough for any town, is that told of a witticism of "Tom" Lawson.

Lawson hates a man who gets rich by methods repugnant to his own code of business ethics, whatever that is. Once upon a time there died in New York a very rich man whose methods of business had been disgusting to Tom. Nevertheless, he went to the funeral.

While the oration was in progress a belated friend slipped into the seat beside Lawson and in a whisper asked how far the funeral had proceeded, to which Tom replied:

"Just opening for the defense."

"The high cost of living is going to be lower," prophesied Peter Lehnen, supervisor from the Third ward, as he leaned upon County Clerk Rawlinson's desk.

"How's that?" asked Charley, pricking up his ears.

"Well, I guess Turkey'll fall before Thanksgiving," mused Lehnen, "and Greece ain't topping the list. The way the czar's growling, I guess they'll both feel a Bear market pretty soon."

"Pete," interrupted Charley, pointing sternly at the door. "You go straight out and tip those daffodils off to Emil Mueller."

POSTPONE MILK CASE.

The case brought against John Newburg by the local health department, which was to be tried today, has been postponed until Monday afternoon. John Newburg, it is alleged, sold milk which was under grade.

LAY DELEGATES ELECT MR. RITTER

Iowa Man Will Attend the General Methodist Conference at Minneapolis

The Lay Delegates of the Northwest German Conference, now being held at the German Methodist church, this morning elected George Ritter of Storm Lake, Iowa, their delegate to the General Conference at Minneapolis in May, while Mr. Fred Vetsch of Sioux City, Iowa, was chosen alternate.

Dr. A. J. Bucher of Cincinnati, and Rev. Fred Vetsch of Sioux City addressed the conference this morning, both men speaking on topics which are of vital interest to the members. Dr. Bucher opened the session, while Rev. Vetsch followed him with a talk on the importance of the work being done. Rev. Wipperman, superintendent of the orphanage at Warrentown, Mo., gave a short talk on his work at that institution.

The lay delegates submitted several reports and resolution at this morning's session all of which were accepted. Their resolution which praised the work of the ministers in the Sunday school work was adopted as was also the one that the pastors help instruct children along religious lines. They also showed that much interest is being exhibited in educational work. A typewriter was donated to the Charles City, Ia., college by the delegates.

Mrs. Mary Wellemeyer, secretary of the W. F. M. S. of New York, and Mrs. Hill of the Women's Home Missionary society were introduced to the conference this morning.

This afternoon Miss Clara Martin, Mrs. Wellemeyer and Mrs. Hill spoke to the conference. A short business session was held at four o'clock.

The celebration of the founding of the conference was held last evening, Dr. Schaub, president of the Charles City college, and Rev. G. C. Clausen of Redfield, S. D., delivering addresses.

Dr. Frederick Schaub also delivered an address on education. He asserted that the home, school, church and the press were the places to acquire an education and he gave examples to prove this. One can learn in all periods of life, childhood, youth, and old age, for at all times one can still learn something. A person must receive different treatment in the several periods of life

APPROPRIATIONS ARE FILED TODAY

County Clerk Files Statement with State Aid Commission; Will Spend $26,000 Next Year

County Clerk Charles Rawlinson today filed his statement on the county appropriation for road building during 1912 with the State Aid commission, Madison. The county appropriation is $10,650. The amount of state aid requested for this county is $9,300. The amount of the state aid this county is entitled to is $5,390, providing all of the counties request the full amount. However, there is little possibility of all of the counties asking for their share and La Crosse county will probably receive more than that amount. It is not thought that they will receive as large as a sum as asked for. This means that the very lowest amount that will be spent on road building in this county during the next year year will be $26,690 and may reach as high as $30,000.

The State Aid commission will announce the appropriations for each county during the month of October.

40,000 MEN ON HARRIMAN LINES OUT ON STRIKE

Roads' Refusal to Recognize Systems Federation Results in General Walkout

GUARD AROUND THE PLANTS

Movement Expected to Spread to Every Railroad in the United States

UNIONS COMBINE STRENGTH

Labor Leaders Declare They Will Tie Up Traffic Indefinitely; Roads to Fight

THE RAILWAY STRIKE

Strike called on Harriman lines and Illinois Central, beginning at ten o'clock this morning, because roads refused to recognize system federation, a union of unions.

Number of men initially affected: 40,000.

Union which have gone out: Boilermakers, carmen, blacksmiths and helpers, sheet metal workers, machinists, tinners, painters, carpenters, clerks, steamfitters, and laborers.

No disorders have been reported; armed guards thrown about plants wherever men have gone out.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—With 40,000 members of the systems federation of Harriman lines and the Illinois Central obeying the order to lay down their tools at 10 o'clock this morning, American railways face what is believed to be one of the greatest crisis of the battle between financial interests and laboring men.

That the strike for recognition of the systems federation will spread and eventually reach every railway system in America is the confident belief of the labor leaders who declare that, by means of the systems federation, they have found at last a weapon with which successfully enforce their demands.

The order for the strike today, sent out broadcast last night, affects the following members of the systems federation of the two lines:

Boilermakers, 5,000; machinists, 10,000; carmen, 14,000; helpers, 3,000; clerks, 1,200; steamfitters, 500; sheet metal workers, 1,200; painters, 2,000; laborers, federated, 2,000; total 38,900.

In addition the labor leaders declare there are several thousand unorganized men who probably will go out in a few days as a result of the "missionary" work of the strikers.

The lines affected by the strike order are the Union Pacific, the Southern Pacific, the Oregon Short Line, the Oregon, Washington & Northern, the Oregon Railway & Navigation company, the Sunset Route, the Illinois Central, the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley, and the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake City.

The cities where largest number of men are affected are: Centralia, Ill.; Memphis, Tenn.; Oakland, Cal.; Birmingham, Ala.; Freeport, Ill.; Paducah, Ky.; Oak Park, Cal.; Houston, Tex.; Portland, Ore.; El Paso, Tex.; Omaha, Neb.; Kansas City, Mo.; Beaumont, Tex.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; East St. Louis, Ill.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Sacramento, Cal.; East Bakersfield, Cal.; McComb, Miss.; San Antonio, Tex.; North Platte, Neb.; and Tucson, Arizona.

BOOMED TO FILL WILSON'S SHOES

FARGO, N. D.—President John H. Worst of the North Dakota Agricultural College and also president of the International Dry Farm Congress, is being boomed to fill the shoes of "Tama" Jim Wilson as secretary of agriculture.

President Worst has made the North Dakota Agricultural College one of the most noted institutions of the kind in the United States. He is an enthusiast for the conservation of the soil and his appointment would go far toward winning back to the Taft administration the farmer votes that have been estranged through the reciprocity pact.

BODY IN SWAMP IS IDENTIFIED

Tribune Description Leads to Identification of Body as August Meyer, Inmate of Poorhouse

That the body of the unknown man found in the La Crosse river swamps between north and south La Crosse Wednesday is that of August Meyer, an inmate of the county poor house, is the assertion of A. T. Mathewson, superintendent of the poor house today, following an examination of the articles found upon the body. A weak mind is given as the cause of suicide.

Mr. Mathewson's attention was first called to the probability of the unknown being August Meyer by George Judson, following the reading of the description printed in The Tribune Thursday of the body and articles found.

Mr. Meyer, who is 75 years of age, left the poor house Saturday, Sept. 9, having asked permission to spend a few days with friends in La Crosse. On Monday he appeared at the office of Poor Commissioner S. Burdick and requested permission to remain a few days longer, which was granted. On Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 13, just two weeks before the finding of the body, he was seen going toward North La Crosse by Mr. Burdick and is not known to have been seen later.

Mr. Burdick asserts that he was in the best frame of mind and did not seem to be meditating suicide, but as he has shown signs of a mild form of insanity for some time it is believed that this is the cause. Where he obtained the revolver is not known.

Mr. Meyer was born in Germany and served for fifteen years in the German army, and later came to America. He has been a resident of this city for several years and was employed at his trade as a gunsmith. Last June he left his home at 820 Kane street and became an inmate of the poor farm. He has no living relatives.

ITALY OPENS HOSTILITIES BY ATTACKING TURKISH WARSHIPS GENERAL WAR DIRE POSSIBILITY

EUROPE TRIES TO KEEP WAR WITHIN NARROW BOUNDS

Diplomats Straining Every Nerve to Prevent Struggle Involving All Other Powers

WIRES ARE BEING KEPT HOT

Censorship on News from Both Italy and Turkey Adds Tenseness to Situation

ITALIAN BARGES ARE SUNK

Two Turkish Transports Beached to Prevent Capture; Hundreds Drown

VIENNA, Sept. 30.—With the news that actual fighting between Italy and Turkey has followed King Victor's declaration of hostilities against the sultan, European diplomacy is straining every nerve towards narrowing the field of war. It is recognized that the Turko-Italian struggle may speedily involve practically every one of the greater old world powers unless the most strenuous efforts are made to prevent it from so tremendous an outbreak even the most hardened of international politicians shrink in horror. The wires are being kept hot between Vienna, Berlin, London, Paris and St. Petersburg with a view to concerted action towards putting the lid on the Balkans, but for the next few days it will be impossible to judge of the success of these exertions in the interests of European peace.

The censorship on all news messages from both Italian and Turkish sources renders information of late developments very meager. Confirmation of an Italian landing on the Tripolitan coast is lacking and it is doubted here if one has yet been effected, the most reliable news at hand predicting that the squadron already there will await the arrival of the main fleet of warships and transports due from southern Italy and Sicily early next week. The force then, under General Caneva, who will have the command, will amount to about 40,000 men, or some ten thousand more than the entire Turkish military force in Tripoli.

Two Barges are Sunk

It is known, however, that the Italian blockading squadron off Tripoli has seized the Turkish transport Derna, which arrived Thursday with the new Turkish governor of the province, troops and munitions of war. The Turks made no resistance, which, with their single transport against the Italian warships, have been useless. It is also confirmed that the Turkish fleet, last reported off Chios, in the Aegeon sea, has sunk two barge loads of Italian soldiers who are presumed to have been trying to land on Turkish ter-

TURKEY APPEALS TO POWERS IN A PLAY FOR TIME

Would Delay Hostilities Until Storms Prevent Italy's Landing in Tripoli

PASHA'S CABINET IS OUSTED

New Ministers United in Plan to Resist Seizure of Tripoli to the Last

PRIESTS INSURRECTIONISTS

Try to Convince Masses the Present Troubles Are Due to Reign of Young Turks

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 30.—The cabinet drafted an appeal today to the "Friendly and Humanitarian Feelings of the Powers" to prevent consummation of the Italian grab of Tripoli. The note will be sent at once to all the more important European capitals.

Leaders of the Constantinople government do not try to disguise the embarrassments of Turkey's position. Their army is far more than a match for Italy's but without a navy they are powerless to use it. Their policy, it is agreed must be to fight for every minute of the time, depending upon the lack of landing facilities off the Tripolitan coast and the heavy storms which sweep it a few weeks later than this every season, to make it impossible for Italy to get such a force ashore as will be able to cope with the Turkish garrison already in the province.

The fall of Grand Vizier Hakki Pasha's cabinet, for the sole reason that it favored a surrender to Italy, makes it clear that Turkey is determined to fight, at any cost. Said Pasha, the new grand vizier, openly declares for resistance. Chefket Pasha, the war minister and the only member of the old cabinet who remains in the new one, is also of the war party. Kiamil Pasha, the first grand vizier following the Turkish revolution, and foreign minister in the present cabinet, is considered the ablest statesman in Turkey. It is believed he can do more than any man towards winning friends among the great European powers.

A grave danger to the government, however, is that of a reactionary uprising under cover of the present excitement. The Mohammedan priesthood, which has always hated the Young Turks, is doing its best to convince the masses that Turkey's present troubles are due to the despotism's overthrow. Chefket Pasha is keeping a tight reign on the populace and can be counted on to act vigorously at the first sign of troubles.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—A large Italian cruiser went ashore today at Tripoli, according to unconfirmed advices received here.

BELGRADE, Servia, Sept. 30.—Fighting is in progress today on the Turko-Greek frontier. It is believed to be no more than mere skirmishing as yet, but everything indicates that it is merely preliminary to a general Turko-Greek campaign.

It was the Turks who took the aggressive against Greece, under the impression that the latter would probably attempt to annex Crete under cover of the Turko-Italian war. Turkish troops began the occupation of the Greek province of Thessaly yesterday. Greece responded by dispatching a force of its own to resist them and hostilities followed.

Besides their objection to the loss of Crete, the Turks were actuated in assuming the aggressive against Greece by the higher diplomatic motive of frightening Europe by a threat of a widespread Balkan outbreak, into interfering with the Italian grab of Tripoli.

Frontiers Will Shift

The danger of such an outbreak is great. Not only are Turkey and Greece already embroiled, but Bulgaria is expected to seize Macedonia from the Turks the moment it is convinced that the latter are too busy with other troubles to resist, the Macedonians themselves are showing signs of restlessness at Turkish rule; Montenegro has long been looking for an opportunity to add northern Albania to King Nicholas's territories, and the southern Albanians are reported on the eve of another insurrection against Turkey.

A general commotion of this kind will inevitably ensue if Turko-Italian hostilities go much farther. The commotion will mean a shifting of southeastern European frontiers everywhere. It is in the epidemic of grabbing on the part of the great powers which will surely follow, that there lies the danger of a general European crisis.

Turkey knows that the powers are

The exact extent of the boundaries of the Ottoman empire never has been computed. A general comparison with that of Italy may be obtained, however, by considering that the total area in square acres of the former is about 1,500,000 while that of the latter is only 110,864, less than one-thirteenth as much. A fair estimate of the latter would be, therefore, that Turkey would have at least twenty times as much frontier to guard as Italy—and a great part of this adjoining nominally subject, or recently freed people.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

Covered with Eruption to Back of Ears So They Hardly Knew What He Looked Like. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 4 Weeks Face Fine and Clean.

"Our little boy Gilbert was troubled with eczema when but a few weeks old. His little face was covered with sores even to back of his ears. The poor little fellow suffered very much. The sores began as pimples, his little face was disfigured very much. We hardly knew what he looked like. The face looked like raw meat. We tied little bags of cloth over his hands to prevent him from scratching. He was very restless at night, his little face itched.

"We consulted two doctors at Chicago, where we resided at that time. After trying all the medicine of the two doctors without any result, we read of the Cuticura Remedies, and at once bought the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Following the directions carefully and promptly we saw the result, and after four weeks, the dear child's face was as fine and clean as any little baby's face. Every one who saw Gilbert after using the Cuticura Remedies was surprised. He has a head of hair which is a pride for any boy of his age, three years. We can only recommend the Cuticura Remedies to everybody." (Signed) Mrs. H. Albrecht, Box 883, West Point, Neb., Oct. 26, 1910.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin will be sent free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 14B, Boston.

DESERTED FIELD IS CAUSE OF PRICES

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 30.—The crowded city and the deserted field are responsible for the present high cost of living, according to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief government chemist, in connection with a meeting of the Indiana State Medical society. Back to the farm is the remedy, holds the great pure food advocate, but he believes the problem will continue to be serious one until starvation drives the poor people from the cities.

"I would remedy this condition by education and legislation," said Dr. Wiley. "The people must learn to be producers. Then I would not allow a single factory in any city. This would have to be brought about by legislation. Factories should be in the country. The city is a place of exchange and should not be a place of production. Production belongs to the country."

TEACHER PENSION LAW EXPLAINED

Assistant Superintendent Sends Out Circular Letter Regarding Retirement Fund

TWO CLASSES ARE INCLUDED

Certain Percentage of the Monthly Salary of Class 2 Held by School Boards

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The teachers' retirement fund and pension law, which has been in effect in this state since Sept. 1, is the subject of a flood of inquiries from school boards all over the state by whom its various provisions are not well understood. These inquiries have been answered in a circular letter explaining the law. The essential features of the law were outlined by James B. Borden, assistant state superintendent of public institution, in the following statement:

"Chapter 323, laws of 1911, otherwise known as the teachers' pension law, recognizes two classes of persons. The first class includes all persons, no matter how little or how much experience in teaching they may have had.

"The law is permissive in respect to all persons in class 1, and mandatory upon all persons in class 2. School boards must not withhold any portion of the salary of persons in class 1 unless notified in writing before Sept. 1, 1912, that such teachers wish to come under the provisions of this law. Unless persons in this class notify the board in writing before that date, they need not contribute and cannot any time hereafter become beneficiaries under the act.

Law is Mandatory

"School boards must withhold a certain percentage of the monthly salary of all persons in class 2 who teach after Sept. 1, 1911. The law is mandatory upon all persons in class 2, whether or not they desire to take advantage of the law.

"All persons coming under the provisions of the act who have taught ten years or less, must contribute one per cent of their monthly salary, provided that no one person shall contribute more than $15 in any one year. All persons coming under the provisions of this act who have taught more than ten and less than twenty-six years must contribute 2 per cent of their monthly salary, provided that no one person shall contribute more than $30 in any one year.

"School boards are directed to withhold monthly the percentage fixed and to give the teachers a statement of the amount so withheld at the time the monthly salary is paid.

"This law does not apply to the city of Milwaukee, but affects teachers in all other public schools in the state, including rural, graded and high schools.

Milwaukee Excepted

"In computing the length of time a person has taught, not more than seven years may be counted for work done in other than the public schools and in schools in the city of Milwaukee or in other states.

"After a person has made twenty-five annual contributions to the fund, his payments shall cease even though he remains longer in the service as a public school teacher.

"School district treasurers shall retain the amount so withheld from the several teachers until the close of the school year, whereupon it shall be forwarded to the town or city treasurer, and by that official forwarded to the several county treasurers, by whom the fund so collected shall be remitted to the state treasurer."

HISTORIANS MEET ON SITE OF FORT

State Archaeological Society Opens Field Assembly at Prairie du Chien

OVER 200 DELEGATES ARRIVE

Ruins of Ancient Indian Village and Earthwoks of Frontier Post Visited

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., Sept. 30. — (Special). — The Wisconsin Archaeological and Historical society opened a two days' convention yesterday. About 200 delegates are in attendance at the annual state field assembly.

This will be the first meeting of the society ever held in this section, so replete with historic and archaeological association.

The first day of the assembly was devoted to visiting numerous points of interest in and around the town. These include early Indian village sites and earth works, the remains of British and American frontier forts, the U. S. Military cemetery, the early French burying ground, Astor trading post, the Brisbois mansion and other buildings.

An excursion will be made today in launches to the Glenn estate at the juncture of the Wisconsin and Mississippi rivers, the site of the proposed Marquette state park.

The estate, containing 1,700 acres, extends for miles along the south bank of the Wisconsin and the east bank of the Mississippi.

A matchless view is afforded from its lofty bluffs and upon it are located some of the finest systems of Indian earthworks in the state.

Rich in Historic Interest

Nowhere in Wisconsin, or in the entire northwest, is there a spot richer in historic interest than the prairie, two or three miles wide and ten miles long, upon which the town of Prairie du Chien is built, and its surrounding bluffs and waters.

The town, established in 1781, by French and Scotch trappers and traders, coming by the highway of the Mississippi, is the second oldest in Wisconsin, and was one of the earliest settlements in the northwest.

Older by a score of years than Chicago it was formerly largely owned by eastern capitalists who believed that here, at the juncture of the Wisconsin and Mississippi rivers was the gateway to the boundless northwest and that here would be built its great metropolis.

On the bank of the Mississippi river, at Prairie du Chien, still stands a stone building which was a hundred years ago the home of one of John Jacob Astor's trading posts. Astor himself visited the place more than once, coming from Green Bay by way of Portage and down the Wisconsis river in an Indian canoe. On his first expedition he was accompanied by one Pierre Lessard, who settled here, locating on land extending across the prairie to the bluff, now the site of the city reservoir.

The first fort erected here stood on the bank of the river near the trading post. It is described by the English traveled Latrobe, who visited the place is 1833, as follows: "To the north of the village an ancient quadrangular blockhouse, built of squared logs, and, as usual, so contrived as to present eight faces, the upper part of the square standing across the angles of the lower, marks the position of the old military post."

The site is not occupied by the Dousman residence owned by descendants of Hercules L. Dousman, who was Astor's partner and local manager in the fur trade.

The second, Fort Crawford, ruins of which still remain, was erected in the early years of the last century and was kept continually garrisoned by U. S. troops until shortly before the civil war. It stood on high ground a half mile east and south of the first fortification. With Fort Crawford are connected many names and events of national importance. Here were stationed men who afterward took high places in the affairs of the nation.

Near the ruins of the old Fort is the military cemetery, preserved by the U. S. government. Here lie officers and members of their families who died while stationed at the then remote frontier military post, the farthest advance of civilization and government authority. There are forty-eight stones marked "Unknown," eight old fashioned bricked up tombs covered with stone slabs bearing epitaphs, names and dates of a long gone generation, and several other graves, sixty-one in all.

Cemetery on Bluff

High on the summit of a lofty bluff east of the town and overlooking it is a little private burying ground containing the remains of Michael Brisbois, a notable pioneer of this section with others of his family.

Here, too, are found the old time tombs, these being inscribed in French:

MICHAEL BRISBOIS,
Decede Avril 1, 1837.
Annis 77 yr. 6 mo.
B. W. BRISBOIS

THERESE,
Decede Avril, 1849.

A native of Belgium, two of France and several persons born in the French-Canadian provinces have their last resting place on this majestic height, overlooking the valley of the Mississippi.

Still more ancient is the Frenchtown cemetery north of the city, now overgrown and neglected.

During the last session of the legislature a bill was passed favoring the purchase by the state of the Glenn property in Grant county, just south of the mouth of the Wisconsin hands of the state park board.

The estate, owned by Mr. Robert Glenn of Wyalusing, comprises 1,700 acres and in rugged and picturesque beauty coupled with historic interest is unsurpassed by any similar area in Wisconsin.

From the mouth of the Wisconsin river where, on June 17, 1673 Pere Marquette and his exploring party floated out upon the bosom of the Mississippi, their long search for the "great river of the north" rewarded at last, the estate rises in majestic bluffs clothed and crowned by a magnificent forest, to a skyline 300 feet above the mingled waters of the two great rivers.

Here is Point Lookout to which Marquette and his party climbed to view the wonderful panorama stretching far to the north and south, seen then for the first time and not again for over a hundred years by white men.

Farther back along the highlands are well preserved mounds and supposed burial places of the mysterious race called mound builders. Archaeologists pronounce the section one of the richest fields for exploration in the state. The entire estate is well wooded and well preserved, every variety of native timber being found within its confines.

The last legislature also passed a bill authorizing the erection of a wagon bridge across the Wisconsin river at Walnut Eddy south of this city, connecting Glen Park and Grant county with Prairie du Chien.

Many other points of interest and beauty will be seen by the members of the State Historical society in their sightseeing trips around Prairie du Chien, and every effort will be made to have the meeting a successful and pleasant affair.

GROSSCUP WILL RESIGN

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Having waited for several days for the manazine attack upon him Judge Peter S. Grosscup of the United States court of appeals today authorized the announcement that he would forward his resignation to President Taft the first week in October, as originally planned.

"I did not want to be pictured as withdrawing under fire," he said. "I have given my enemies plenty of time to open the attack but they have not done so because there is no act of mine—public or private—upon which they could attack me."

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's age and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

SENATOR CUMMINS MEETS PRESIDENT

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 30. — Senator A. B. Cummins and former Senator Lafe Young headed the local committee of notables who met President Taft's special train when it reached here yesterday from Waterloo. They escorted him to waiting automobiles through a crowd of several hundred and the police escort, and he was whirled through the decorated streets to the Grant club, where he partook of a breakfast with 200 business men and editors from Iowa towns.

This is the third visit of President Taft to Des Moines. The first time he came as a candidate backed by Roosevelt popularity and never before had Des Moines seen such crowds. The second time he came as the untried president and his welcome was hearty, but this time there were only hundreds to greet him, where there were thousands before.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non alcoholic medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

WHAT CAESAR DID

Here's a bit of philosophy after the style of Walt Mason, that should appeal to the artistic instincts of our good-roads leaders in La Crosse county. We crib it from the Racine Times:

"When Caesar took an eastward ride and grabbed the Gauls for Rome, what was the first thing that he did to make them feel at home? Did he increase the people's loads and liberty forbid? No, he dug in and built Good Roads—that's what Caesar did. Did Caesar put the iron heel upon the foemen's breast, or did he try to make them feel the Roman rule was best? What did he do to make them glad he'd come their midst amid? He built Good Roads in place of bad—that's what old Caesar did. He built Good Roads from hill to hill, Good Roads from vale to vale; he ran a Good Roads movement till old Rome got all the kale. He told the folks to buy at home, built roads their hills amid, until all roads led up to Rome—that's what old Caesar did. If any town would make the town the center of the map, where folks will come and settle down and live in plenty's lap, if any town its own abodes of poverty would rid, let it get out and build Good Roads—just like old Caesar did."

INVITING HUMILIATION

The Tribune believes the people of Wisconsin are entitled to legal representation at the Stephenson hearing, which begins in Milwaukee Oct. 4. We have not urged this step with the thought that all the legal talent in the world would be able to prevent the whitewashing of the Marinette statesman. But we believe that, no matter how impervious the committee may be to evidence damaging to Mr. Stephenson, a lawyer should be there to bring out the salient points in the case, in order that the public may have the facts.

So far as Wisconsin is concerned, this is not necessary. The people of this state are familiar with the record. But the political debauch of the Stephenson campaign is about to receive its first airing in the press of the other states, and with a clever attorney marshalling the defense and only members of the committee that exonerated Lorimer to draw forth the plain facts, it need not be expected that evidences of Stephenson's wrong-doing will be bared.

Unless some good lawyer comes to the front to represent the public, the investigation, so far as it relates to Stephenson, will doubtless bring forth only evidence tending to show that the Wisconsin progressives are a bunch of fussbudgets. But it will mean something more. It will mean that this will not be an investigation of Senator Stephenson; IT WILL BE AN INVESTIGATION OF SENATOR LA FOLLETTE.

Every phase of Senator La Follette's career will stand the light, but is it wise and patriotic for the Wisconsin progressives, by their laches, to subject him to the most dishonest and misleading interpretation of the record, coupled with unscrupulous misrepresentations, that his shrewdest foes can concoct?

Every man who was instrumental in promoting the Stephenson investigation in the United States senate must bear his share of responsibility for its subversion, if it shall miscarry to the advantage of corrupt politicians and to the detriment of honest elections and pure government. If the parents of the investigation no longer wish to father it, they would do well to leave it on the doorstep of some patriotic lawyer.

WILL TAFT GIVE IT UP?

The St. Paul Pioneer Press sees in the studiously polite reception which is being accorded President Taft in his "swing around the circle," evidence of a party defection calculated to insure his defeat. However, while it intimates that in his case his party might well consider that "discretion is the better part of valor," it assumes that the party cannot refuse him a renomination, if he asks it, without "repudiating his administration and confessing a mistake." Far more likely than the party's refusal to renominate him, it regards the possibility of Mr. Taft declining to run.

"President Taft's closest political friends are not taking a hopeful view of his political future. The defeat of the Canadian reciprocity agreement in Canada, the apparent failure of the President's speeches to elicit a hearty response from his audiences, and the surprising growth of the progressive republican movement all have combined to add to the discouragement of Mr. Taft's supporters."

This is the attitude of Mr. Taft's friends. The president himself seems not less pessimistic than they. During one of his recent speeches he was interrupted by an enthusiast who proposed three cheers for William Howard Taft, our next president.

"My friend, I am afraid you are a poor prophet," said the president.

At Peoria he gave voice to such sentences as these:

"I did not dodge the presidency, but as MY DEAR FRIEND, SENATOR CULLOM, says, my ambition lay in an entirely different direction and was not gratified." * * * "I made a great many mistakes, I shall continue during this term to make them. That is hardly to be avoided. * * * I have taken the middle road, between the reactionaries and the progressives."

Are these the words of a presidential aspirant with his heart and his faith in his fight? Indeed, are they the words of one having that poise, dignity and courage we expect in a president? Can a candidate for office utter these down-in-the-mouth confessions without demoralizing his support? Is this the language of a man keyed for battle, or does it betray a half formulated plan to throw up the sponge?

As the unpopularity of the president is further impressed upon him, the while he gathers knowledge of the strength of the progressive movement, he may be expected to show still further weakness, and if in the end he shall determine not to enter a contest in which he sees inevitable defeat there need be no surprise. William Howard Taft will need a lot of bolstering to keep him on the firing line in the coming campaign.

Mr. Gelatt's Leader-Press thinks it's a shame that Senator Stephenson should be criticised for "spending money freely in his own cause." Naturally. The Leader-Press would be an ingrate were it to forget the $600 which it accepted in the "cause" of "Uncle Ike."

THE GERM WHICH PRODUCES DANDRUFF

Finally Causes Baldness.—Kill the Germ and Save Your Hair.—Newbro's Herpicide Will Do It.

Did you ever try to discover a reason for the dying of a valuable plant? You perhaps found that life was destroyed by some insect or parasite working about the roots and sapping away the elements which go to support plant life.

The dandruff germ exercises the same destructive influence upon the life of the hair. It forces its way down the follicle around the hair bulb and thus prevents the hair from getting proper nourishment. The hair dies and drops out.

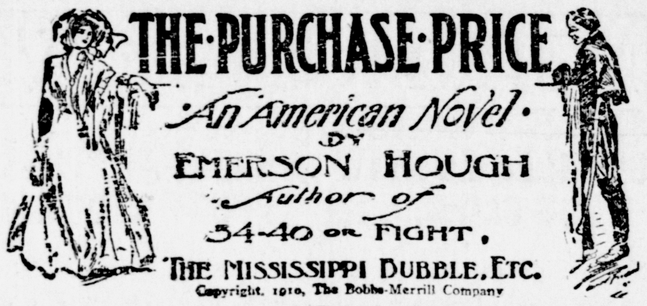

Newbro's Herpicide prevents this by killing the germ. It also frees the scalp from the accumulations of dirt and scarf skin. With the removal of these obstacles to a clean, healthy scalp, the hair will grow naturally and luxuriantly.

He bore something shielded, concealed in his arms—something, which now he carried tenderly and placed down away from the sight of others, behind the shade of a protecting clump of shrubbery. His breath, labored, sobbing, showed his distress. They caught him again when he staggered back, dragged him to a point somewhat removed, upon the lawn. All the time he struggled, as though once more to dash back into the flames, or as though to find his weapons. He was sobbing, half crazed, horribly burned, but seemingly unmindful of his hurts.

The fire went on steadily with its work, the more rapidly now that the opening of the front doors had admitted air to the interior. The construction of the house, with a wide central hall, and stairways leading up almost to the roof, made an admirable arrangement for a conflagration. No living being, though armed with the best of fire fighting apparatus, could have survived in that blazing interior. All they could do, since even a bucket brigade was out of the question here, was to stand and watch for the end. Some called for ladders, but by accident or design, no ladders were found where they should have been. Men ran about like ants. None knew anything of time's passing. No impression remained on their minds save the fascinating picture of this tall pillar of fire.

Dunwody ceased to struggle with those who restrained him. He walked apart, near to the little clump of shrubs. He dropped to the ground, his face in his hands.

"What do you reckon that thah was he brung out in his arms, that time?" demanded Mr. William Jones, after a time, of a neighbor who met him a little apart. "Say, you reckon that was folks? Anybody in there? Anybody over—that? Was that a bed—folded up like—'bout like a crib, say? I'm skeered to go look, somehow."

"God knows!" was the reply. "This here house has had mighty strange goings on of late times. There was always somethng strange about it—something strange about Dunwody too! There ain't no doubt about that. But I'm skeered, too—him a-settin' thah—"

"But who was she, or it, whatever it was? How come—it—in there? How long has it been there? What kind of goings on do you think there has been in this here place, after all?" Mr. Jones was not satisfed. They passed apart, muttering, exclaiming, wondering.

An hour later, Tallwoods mansion house was no more. The last of cornice and pillar and corner post and beam had fallen into a smoldering mass. In front of one long window a part of the heavy brick foundation remained. Some bent and warped iron bars appeared across a window.

Unable to do anything, these who had witnessed such scenes, scarce found it possible to depart. They stood about, whispering, or remaining silent, some regarding the smouldering ruin. Once in a while a head was turned over shoulder toward a bowed form which sat close under a sheltering tree upon the lawn.

"He is takng it mighty hard," said this or that neighbor. "Lost nigh about everything he had in the world." But still his bowed form, stern in its sentinelship, guarded the Something concealed behind the shadows. And still they dared not go closer.

So, while Dunwody was taking that which had come to him, as human beings must, the gray of the dawn crawled up, up over the eastern edge of this little Ozark valley. After a time the day would come again, would look with franker eyes upon this scene of horror. As the light grew stronger, though yet cold and gray, Dunwody, sighing, raised his head from his hands and turned. There was a figure seated close to him—a woman, who reached out a hand to take his scarred and burned ones in her own—a woman, moreover, who asked him no questions.

"Oh! Oh God!" he began, for the first time breaking silence, his burned lips twitching. "And you—why don't you go away? What made you come?"

She was silent for a time. "Am I not your friend?" she asked, at length.

Now he could look at her. "My friend!" said he bitterly. "As if all the world had a friend for me! How could there be? But you saw that—this—?"

She made no answer, but only drew a trifle closer, seeing him for the first time unnerved and unstrung. "I saw something, I could not tell what—when you came out. I supposed—"

"Well, then," said he, with a supreme effort which demanded all his courage, as he turned toward her; "it all had to come out, somehow. It is the end, now."

She had brought with her a cup of water. Now, she handed it to him without comment. His hand trembled as he took it.

"You saw that—?' He nodded toward the ruins. All she did was to nod, in silence. "Yes, I saw you come out—with—that—in your arms."

"Who—what—do you suppose it was?"

"I don't know." Then, suddenly, —"Tell me. Tell me! Was it she?"

"Send them away!" he said to her after a time. She turned, and those who stood about seemed to catch the wish upon her face. They fell back for a space, silent, or talking in low tones.

"Come," he said.

He led her a pace or so, about the scanty wall of shrubbery. He pulled back a bit of old and faded silk, a woman's garment of years ago, from the face of that Something which lay there, on a tiny cot, scarce larger than a child's bed.

It was the face of a woman grown, yet of a strangely vague and childlike look. The figure, never very large, was thin and shrunken unbelievably. The features, waxy-white, were mercifully spared by the flames which had licked at the shielding hands and arms that had borne her hither. Yet they seemed even more thin, more wax-like, more unreal, than had their pallor come by merciful death. Death? Ah, here was written death through years. Life, full, red-blooded, abounding, luxuriant, riotous, never had animated this pallid form, or else had long years since abandoned it. This was but the husk of a human being, clinging beyond its appointed time to this world, so cruel and so kind.

WIFE UNTRAMMELED BUT HUSBAND IS—!

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—The very latest idea in affairs matrimonial was disclosed here today when document No. 4,837,716 was filed with Recorder of Deeds Abel Davis. The idea promptly put into effect by the parties follows:

"To Whom it May Concern: I, Edward Matt, hereby agree to all herein contained. I agree to allow my wife, Gertrude Ellis Matt, all the privileges that belong to a free born American woman. She may do as she pleases in everything (except buying my cigars). She is free to go and come when she likes; to go with whom she chooses, and I agree not to be jealous.

"I will not go gunning for a fellow because he admires her beauty, and because she smiles when he speaks to her. I will not interfere with her in any of her plans. I will be kind and good to her. I will give into her care all my earnings and it shall be her privilege to do with my income as she likes, so she feeds me well.

"When we have a surplus and it goes to the bank I agree that I won't hold the keys. The checks may be signed by us both. I will agree to come home at a proper hour at night, or make a valid excuse. I will further agree not to talk about pies my mother used to make, or grumble because the biscuits are soggy.

"And I further agree that I will let her get a divorce if I do not behave as a kind, loving, gentle, considerate husband should. (Seal.)

This condition is usually caused directly by faulty digestion, likewise dizziness, headache, belching, sour stomach and offensive breath. Persons afflicted in this way will be glad to avail themselves of the information given below. It is the prescription that has gained such widespread reputation among doctors for its remarkable results in the treatment of stomach troubles. It is said to give almost instant relief and if used for sufficient time will cure the worst case of dyspepsia. "Two ounces essence of Pepsin; three ounces syrup of Ginger; one ounce Catandir compound. Mix and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bedtime." Catandir always comes put up in one ounce sealed packages. Any druggist should have it in stock by this time or he will quickly get it from his wholesale house. For best results mix the Pepsin and the Ginger, then let stand about an hour before adding the Catandir. It will be more convenient to get the ingredients from the druggist and mix them at home. Any one having stomach trouble should certainly try this Catandir prescription. If you are not afflicted clip it out and give it to some suffering friend.

A Story of Mark Twain

Some year ago, Mark Twain was a guest of honor at an opera box-party given by a prominent member of New York society. The hostess had been particularly talkative all during the performance—to Mr. Clemens' increasing irritation.

Toward the end of the opera, she turned to him and said gushingly:

"Oh, my dear Mr. Clemens, I do so want you to be with us next Friday evening. I'm certain you will like it—the opera will be 'Aosca.'"

"Charmed, I'm sure," replied Mr. Clemens, "I've never heard you in that."—Life.

A Dangerous Drink

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, the noted reformer of Denver, was lunching one day—it was very warm—when a politician paused beside the table.

"Judge," said the politician, "I see you're drinking hot cawfee. That's a heatin' drink."

"Yes?" said Judge Lindsey.

"Oh, yes. In this weather you want iced drinks, judge—sharp, iced drinks. Did you ever try gin and ginger ale?"

"No," said the judge, smiling, "but I've tried several fellows who have."—Denver Times.

He is Too Hopeful

Andrew B. Humphrey, secretary of the American Peace and Arbitration league, was discussing in New York the universal peace movement.

"This movement," he said, "has lately made gigantic strides, but of course, we musn't expect too much of it. We mustn't, like Peleg Shucks, expect to see universal peace come in our time.

"Peleg Shucks, you know, was thinking about buying a gun.

"'I guess, though,' he said, thoughtfully, one night at the general store, 'I guess I'll wait a while afore purchasin'.'

"'Wot's yer idee in waitin', Peleg?' asked the storekeeper.

"'Wall, ye see,' said Peleg, 'arter all them European nations take up this Carnegie-Taft arbitration and disarmament contract, guns is goin' to get tarnation cheap.'"—Washington Star.

A Western Piano Tuner

"Every man can find work im he uses his brains," said Andrew Carnegie in an after-dinner address.

"We should be like the piano tuner I once met out west.

"'Why,' I said to him—for we were in a wild, unsettled country—'surely piano tuning can't be very lucrative here. I shouldn't imagine that pianos were very plentiful in this region.'

"'No, sir, they're not,' said the piano tuner, 'but I make a pretty fair income by tightening up barbed wire fences,'"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Delicate Problem

Parson Johnson, an evangelist of color, was caught hugging one of the finest ewe lambs of the congregation, who was a very popular young lady, and it created quite a stir. So Brudder Johnson was brought up for trial.

"You have seen these great pictures, I suppose, so you know dat de great Shepherd am always pictured with a lamb in His arms," said Brudder Johnson.

"Yes, sah, pahson, dat am so," admitted Deacon Jones.

"Den, Brudder Jones, what am wrong in the shepherd of dis flock having a lamb in his arms?"

This was too much for Brudder Jones, so he proposed that the people have a meeting that afternoon. After the point was discussed at the afternoon meeting the following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, Dat for the future peace of the congregation, dat de next time Brudder Johnson feels called on to take a lamb of de flock in his arms, dat he pick out a ram lamb."—Stoutsville (Mo.) Urinary troubles, diabetes, surely follow.
Doan's Kidney Pills relieve backache,
Cure every kidney ill.
La Crosse citizens endorse them.

G. F. Erbst, 1006 S. Fourth St., La Crosse, Wis., says: "I suffered a great deal from kidney complaint. If I stood in one position for any length of time, my back became very lame and when I moved, sharp twinges radiated throughout my body. There was a steady, dull ache in my loins and this made it difficult for me to stoop. After trying several remedies and finding no relief, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from Erhart's Drug Store. They rid me of my trouble and built up my entire system." (Statement given in July, 1905.)

FIVE YEARS LATER.

On October 8, 1910, when Mr. Erbst was interviewed, he said: "I am pleased to again endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. I still use this remedy occasionally and it keeps my kidneys in good working order."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

CHARLES RUSSOW HAS CLOSE CALL

North Side Fireman Nearly Killed when Pioneer Limited Engine Tips Over in Milwaukee Depot

Charles Russow, 312 Rose street, a fireman on the Milwaukee road, and his engineer, C. W. McLane, of Portage, miraculously escaped injury this morning when engine No. 4, on the Pioneer Limited," turned over on its side as it was entering the Union Depot at Milwaukee.

The engine plowed up the tracks for a long distance, and dug a great hole in the ground before it was finally brought to a standstill. The accident is believed to have been caused by a defective frog, which caused the engine to leave the track.

Both Russow and McLane stuck with the train, and were taken out of the cab after the engine tipped over. No one was injured in the accident, although the passengers were badly shaken up. The accident partially tied up traffic at the Milwaukee Union Depot for several hours.

MUCH FREIGHT ON OHIO

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 30.—Twelve million tons of coal was shipped down the Ohio river during September from this port, according to estimates today. This is a new record for the month of September. It is also estimated that about six million was shipped out of the Big Kanawa river district. The stage of water this month has been the most consistent in the history of river navigation, old river men declare.

SURELY SETTLES UPSET STOMACHS

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn and Dyspepsia go five minutes after taking Pape's Diapepsin

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50 cent case of Pape's iapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large 50 cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

DEAD BROKE

Jack Johnson from his most recent photograph in London and one of the few which shows him without the habitual grin which has characterized him throughout his fighting career.

LONDON, Eng.—There is more seriousness to the report that Jack Johnson is broke than is generally credited, particularly in the United States. He has been hitting a likely pace, has been spending his money lavishly and it is not at all surprising that he has at last gotten to a point where he has got to raise money on his automobile, jewelry and other valuables. Johnson still has a tidy sum, but it is going fast and this, doubtless, had much to do with the willingness with which he approached the Bombadier Wells fiasco, as it would give him some easy money. At least according to his own idea of the matter.

METHODISTS WILL TAKE OVER COLLEGE

FARIBAULT, Minn., Sept. 30. — The members of the Methodist conference were addressed by Rev. A. B. Leonard of New York, the occasion being the anniversary of the board of foreign missions. Mr. Leonard spoke principally on the evangelization of the world and used as his subject "Can It Be Done?" He stated that a large number of people are evangelized, but not converted, that there are several million of people in the United States who do not attend services, who need to be evangelized, and that the Methodist church was seld responsible for the evangelization of 15,000,000. Forty million dollars have been spent for religious work in America and $3,000,000 in foreign mission work.

At an executive session the conference voted unanimously to take over Parker college at Winnebago City. Delegates were elected to the general conference.

We are none of us any better than we ought to be and many of us are a great deal worse.

WON FIVE PENNANTS

BILL CLYMER

WILKESBARRE, Pa .— Winning five pennants and finishing second twice, once losing the pennant in the final game of the season—such is the record of William J. Clymer, known in the baseball world as "Derby Day Bill." This year Clymer's Wilkesbarre team landed the flag after a hard struggle, repeating the performance of a year ago. Before that Clymer was manager of the Columbus team in the American association and in that fast company he landed three flags. Twice he nosed out Milwaukee and once his team was nosed out for the pennant by Indianapolis. Clymer's record of five pennants in ten years is a good one—the best in minor league baseball.

BALLINGER BITTER AGAINST PINCHOT

Denounces Policies as Most Gigantic Political Scheme Ever Attempted in the United States

CALLS FRAUDS EXAGGERATED

Says Talk of Greed of Interests Is Meant to Conceal Bureaucratic Plans

DENVER, Col., Sept. 30.—That the resolutions to be adopted by the public lands convention before its adjournment will be drastic in opposing the government's policy of administering the public domain was indicated today by two facts. One was the address of former Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, denouncing the Roosevelt-Pinchot conservation scheme, and the other was the selection of Former Senator Teller of Colorado, an ardent states' rights advocate as chairman of the resolutions committee.

Ballinger's address, in which he characterized the Pinchot policies as "the most gigantic political scheme ever attempted in the history of the republic," is expected to have a strong effect on the convention delegates, a majority of whom are opposed to the government policies anyway, it is said.

Exaggeration of frauds, the greed of the interests and the rights of posterity, said Ballinger, have been talked to conceal from the public, an appeal to sentiment, the autocratic government planned by the government bureau heads. He charged that all the publicity and all the conventions attended by bureau heads were but part of a scheme to perpetuate federal landlordism which "like the man who created it, is impractical and must fail." He charged that it was the Pinchot scheme to lease the grazing lands, forests and mineral lands "to those who could contribute their support to this politico-bureaucratic combination.

The address is generally regarded here as an answer and a challenge to Walter L. Fisher and Gifford Pinchot.

The principal address at this morning's session was that by Senator Teller on "The Wise and Beneficient Results of Our Public Lands Policy." Other subjects referring to the administration of the public domain were discussed this afternoon.

After he was "discovered," at the Soo, Barbeau went to Columbus, then to Cleveland, then to Toledo, then to Pittsburg and now he is with Kansas City and he is considered among the topnotchers in the association.

SCHOOL CHILD'S NEEDS ARE MANY

Doctor J. M. Furstman Finds Some in Need of of Medical Attention in Classes

CLOTHES NOT ALL IMPORTANT

Competent Physician Can Often Correct Faults that Prevent the Child's Progress

An article which appeared in the August number of the report of the Michigan state department of health entitled "The School Child's Needs," was found by Dr. J. M. Furstmann this morning and he considers it exceptionally good.

These needs as given do not apply to any particular city but they can be applied to all places. The article was one in many which appear in the health bulletins which the local department receives each month.

Dr. Furstman examined thirty-five children in one of the local schools last week, these subjects being chosen as those who needed attention by the teachers. That their choices were good was evident for Dr. Furstman said that twenty-five needed medical attention badly. Their deficiencies are such that in addition to making them backward in their school work it affects them physically.

Following is the article:

"If a child is unable to see properly he cannot be expected to learn his lessons. The concentration and application necessary to accomplish this is impossible. And yet one third of the school children are found to suffer from defective visions in various degrees. But this is a condition that is easily remedied in the majority of the cases by proper treatment.

Adenoids Common Trouble

"One of the common causes for backward children is adenoids and tonsils. These are lymphatic growths in the nasal pharynx which fill up the upper part of the throat and render breathing through the nose difficult or impossible. Such a child has a characteristic facial expression and is known as a mouth breather. Not only is the face affected but backwardness in the development of the entire system is also caused. These are readily removed by a slight surgical operation.

"See that the child receives plenty of fresh air and exercise. The body needs plenty of systematic exercise in the open air. A healthy body and a healthy brain go hand in hand and one is seldom found without the other. See that the child's study and sleeping rooms are well ventilated so that he will not be poisoned by foul air.

"A healthy start in life means health, wealth and happiness in later years. See that the child lacks none of the opportunities for this development.

"If the child is frail or does not learn readily look for a cause. There are many minor ailments and defects the correction of which may be the turning point in the life of your child.

The School Child's Needs

"The school year has just begun and fond parents are carefully selecting new outfits of clothes so that their children may compare favorably in appearance with their neighbor's children.

"But why only see that their stock of clothes is complete? Clothes do not make the man. It is far more important to see that both mind and body are in the best condition possible for development.

"Many a child is forced backward toward the foot of the class because of some minor ailment which might be easily corrected by proper treatment.

"Do not neglect the child because he seems stupid. Then is the time that he needs attention. Any child who is weak or does not learn easily should be taken to a competent physician who can often find defects in the child, the correction of which will make the child both strong and robust both mentally and physically.

"Our cities are fast coming to the realization of the fact that many of the children are backward not because of lack of brains but because their defective bodies do not supply the brain with enough good rich blood to develop properly. They therefore hire reputable physicians whose duty it is to examine these children carefully, and if any defect is found to take steps to have it removed.

"The best is none too good for him. See that no stone is left unturned in bringing the child to a healthy maturity, and you will be astonished at the results.

A great many children in the public schools will not be able to keep up with their classes this year on account of ill health.

"Every day in the various institutions of learning, pupils are dropping out because of ill health. Anticipating such a condition, it is especially necessary that a greater degree of attention be given to the matter of the health of the children just now, at the beginning of school.

"Preventive measures are now much more important than curative measures later on. A child who is not well should not be sent to school but should be given into the care of a competent physician. If there is any question about the condition of the eyes, ears, throat, etc., of a child now this should have prompt attention.

"The great majority of pupils who drop out of school later in the year do so because of uncorrected conditions that existed early in the term.

Obligations on Parents

"Too much emphasis cannot be put upon the importance of knowing that the school children are well. In many communities the schools are provided with medical inspectors and visiting nurses, who do much good in the way of personal attention to the students. These conditions are not available in the great majority of schools. In most instances the obligations are upon the parents.

"Sick children must be kept away from school not only for their own benefit but in the interest of others.

"To allow children who have measles, whooping cough or mumps to go to school is a violation of the law which must not be tolerated.

"The great many of the cases of ill health later in school life is attributable to improperly cared for cases of measles or whooping cough earlier.

"Severe cases of diphtheria, scarlet fever or small pox are frequently contracted from exposure to mild cases. Thus the importance of isolating the mild cases.

"There is no question before the educational systems today of greater and more vital importance than school sanitation. It is also a commercial interest.

"To conserve health is more important than to conserve property. This should be taught the children very early.

"Teach them that early in life is the time to save days as well as dimes."

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

Does your watch run as close as it ought to? Does it keep as close time as when you first owned it? A great many have watches that are not accurate, dependable timekeepers; simply because someone trying to repair them has put them out of order. We can take any watch of this sort and put it in order so it will keep perfect time. Better bring your watch here and we will prove our claims.

CLANCY WILL APPEAL FROM BOARD VERDICT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 30. — Fire Chief Clancy was found guilty of all but two charges filed against him by a vote of 3 to 2 and discharged as head of the Milwaukee fire department by a vote of 4 to 1 by the police and fire commission on Friday.

An appeal from the decision of the board will be taken by his attorneys, probably on Monday, and further action will be held in abeyance until the circuit court has decided the justice of the decision.

The formal discharge was brought about by Chairman Schoen, democrat, and Commissioner Brown, republican, voting with Commissioners Petersen and Scherer, socialists. Commissioner Philipp, republican, alone stood out for reinstatement and filed a dissenting opinion.

Charges of bribery, corruption, espionage, coercion, incompetency, subornation of perjury and others filed by Edward F. Wiese were upheld. The only charges not sustained were those of perjury and the promotion of Assistant Chief Young on the ground that he had been promoted for the loan of $250 instead of on merit.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Business Girls' Friendship club met Thursday night at the Y. W. C. A. at the supper hour, nine members being present. The girls, under the leadership of Miss Lucy Hogan, are learning to converse in French. The club meets every week.

* * * *

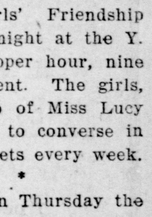

At eight o'clock on Thursday the O. C. club met for their regular weekly meeting, sixteen members being present. The girls have planned their work for the year and expect by next meeting to have the programs printed. The evening has been changed from Thursday to Tuesday night. The program has been planned with the four-fold idea of the Association in mind—the development of the physical, social, intellectual and spiritual life of its members. A week ago the girls held their physical meeting and Miss Clement, the new physical director of the association gave a very practical and helpful health talk. This week was social night and the girls under the direction of Miss Anna Goodland were taught how to make some Christmas candies. Before the special program of each evening, the girls have twenty minutes of Bible study and a short business session.

Next week the study is to be that of a few famous pictures.

On Saturday night of this week is the monthly birthday supper. All girls, who have had birthdays during the month, are entitled to sit at the birthday table and to share the birthday cake.

MAY INVESTIGATE SPARTA ACCIDENT

Court of Inquiry Will Probably Probe Premature Explosion that Killed Three Army Men

According to word received from Sparta today a court of inquiry will probably be appointed to investigate the explosion of a shell in a three-inch field gun during target practice at the government reservation near there yesterday.

Advices from Sparta late last night increased the number of dead as the result of a gun explosion to three.

They are: Private Howard Gan, age 21 years and Corporal Rowland Beverly, age 19, both of Cleveland. Private Earl B. Snyder, age 19, also of Cleveland, died from the effects of injuries while being removed to Milwaukee to receive treatment.

Private John Cutcheon, age 22 years, Cleveland, and Sergeant O'Trimble, U. S. A., were both severely injured but it is thought they will recover. Several others narrowly escaped death or injury.

The cannon was a three-inch field piece and was being used in target practice when the shell exploded splitting the cannon into hundreds of pieces. No cause has as yet been assigned for the accident.

EUROPE TRIES TO KEEP WAR WITHIN NARROW BOUNDS

ritory. The Italians' fate is unknown. How many Turks were drowned as a result of the beaching off Preveza of two transports, which Italian gunboats were pursuing, is also uncertain, but it is reported that several hundred lost their lives. The Turkish commander is said to have run the boats recklessly upon the rocks to escape capture, the soldiers aboard facing death with the utmost courage and unconcern.

Italian warships are known to be attempting to establish a blockade of western Turkish ports.

Italy Faces Revolution

MILAN, via THE FRONTIER, Sept. 30.—Italy faces a revolution at home as the result of her conquest of Tripoli. The situation is already out of the hands of the authorities in many centers and anti-military riots are increasing in intensity.

Realizing that the war enthusiasm is manufactured by government agents except in Sicily, where the enthusiasm, where the enthusiasm is genuine, the heads of the socialist party in Italy are preparing to force the government to convoke parlitment. This is the one thing King Victor and the war party is anxious to avoid, fearing the sentiment of the representatives who are closest to the people.

The threat of martial law throughout Italy, made by the king to curb the revolutionists, has added to their ardor. They declare that every available Italian soldier will be needed to carry out the pretentious dream of conquest of the military party and that, unless the war is speedily ended, the reigning government may be overthrown.

U. S. to be Neutral

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The United States government will issue a proclamation of neutrality in the Tripolitan war and will give warning to all American vessels to observe the hostile blockade of the Tripolitan ports. This was the announcement at the state department today.

No formal declaration of war has been issued by either Italy or Turkey but this was not considered necessary in the procedure of declaring neutrality. In case of the Russian-Japanese war no formal declaration was ever received by this government.

As to mediation by this government, the state department admits that before this country would feel justified in offerings its good offices, some suggestion must come from one of the belligerents.

GAME, STEP BY STEP:

September 13. — Following continued lawlessness in Tripoli, Italy announces that unless Turkey agrees to an Italian protectorate over Tripoli, forcible occupation will follow.

Sept. 23.—Italy announces her military plans as including the bombardment of Tripoli by a naval force, and the dispatch of 20,000 soldiers to blockade the Adriatic coast and to operate in Macedonia, Syria and Arabia.

Sept. 24.—Situation further complicated by reported seizure, later denied, of Italian liner off coast of Asia Minor, and the general exodus of Italians from Tripoli, Constantinople and other Turkish territory. Italian press demands war. Socialists threaten general strike to prevent Italian government from going to war.

Sept. 26.—Turkey asks the powers to intervene to prevent the spoliation of the Ottoman empire.

Sept. 27.—Italy delivers her ultimatum to the porte that unless Turkey surrenders Tripoli, a military force will seize that province.

Sept. 28.—The powers reply to the porte, and although their answers were kept secret, the purport was unfavorable to Turkey's appeal.

of occupying the Turkish province of Trebizond until Turkey pays off its last war indemnity to the czar, according to a report here tonight. The sum amounts to many millions and has been outstanding for years. It is feared here that Russia's action initiates the European powers' determination to dismember the Ottoman empire.

Prevesa Bombarded

The Italian fleet bombarded Prevesa today, destroying the government house and many private buildings. It is said another torpedo boat was sunk, but this may be the one lost yesterday. Troops are reported also to have landed. Hostilities are expected to start today in several places.

Prevesa is a Turkish seaport which has once before been bombarded by a hostile fleet. During the Green-Turkish war in 1897 the Greeks shelled the town, but failed to compel its surrender.

Martial law was proclaimed in Constantinople this afternoon as a precaution against a rectionary uprising against the Young Turkish government.

The Turkish fleet under Admiral Bucknam, the American, also arrived here from Beirut today. Most of it will be held in the Golden Horn, but the torpedo boats and destroyers will make raids upon the Italian coast.

A nation wide boycott on all Italian goods has been begun. The Italian ships of Smyrna are known to be under orders to occupy both towns the moment the boycott starts, but the Turks think they will be able to resist landings successfully.

The Turkish newspapers, while demanding a struggle to the death against Italian aggression, ask the people to remember that individual Italians in the country are guests and to treat them with all courtesy.

It is stated at the ministry of marine that the crew of the Turkish destroyer sunk by the Italians in Prevesa harbor yesterday escaped.

War Minister Chefket Pasha, in direct charge of the defensive operations is hurrying troops to stategetic poists on the coast to resist Italian landings.

Italy is Aggressive

Italy is taking the aggressive with the utmost energy. Following the exchange of a few shots between the Italian ships of Tripoli and the Turkish batteries ashore, the Italians resumed today their landing begun last night. The troops are not going ashore at the city of Tripoli, where they might be effectively resisted, but at either side of the town, whence they might be effectively resisted, but at either side of the town, whence they have already started to march upon the antiquated fortifications.

A naval engagement is momentarily expected between the Italian fleet sent to intercept the Turkish squadron now at Constantinople, under the American Admiral Bucknam. The Turks are hopelessly outclassed but Bucknam is considered an extremely able commander and will undoubtedly give a good account of himself.

HAINS PARDON SIGNED

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Governor Dix today signed the pardon for Captain Peter C. Hains, who killed William E. Annis at the Bayside Yacht club, three years ago. The pardon will be filed Monday and then sent to the warden of Sing Sing prison, who will deliver it to Hains.

TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from Jonesville, "and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet.

The doctor said I never would be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer.

I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better.

They said medicines would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die.

At last, I tried Cardui, and I began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains. Cardui worked like a charm."

There must be merit in this purely vegetable tonic remedy for women—Cardui—when it will help such an apparently hopeless case as this. Its ingredients are mild herbs, with a gentle, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

If you suffer from any symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you to get well.

Cardui goes to the spot—reaches the trouble—relieves the symptoms, and drives away the cause.

Have you tried it If not, do so. It may be just what you need.

(Copyright, 1911, by the New York Evening Post.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Such apprehension regarding today's market, as may have existed yesterday over the sequel to Italy's declaration of war was soon disposed of this morning. London itself was scarcely more disturbed than it was at the close of its stock exchange market yesterday, when it had not yet received the formal notice of hostilities. Consols moved down and up again, within a trifling fraction; other stocks were hardly more than hesitant.

Such weakness as the continental markets showed might easily have occurred without the news of yesterday and solely in connection with the impending quarterly financing. As for the New York market it at once dismissed all of yesterday afternoon's misgivings when it understood Europe's attitude.

DR. A. J. BUCHNER ADDRESSES MEET

Impressive Sermon Marks Friday Afternoon's Session of German M. E. Conference

Dr. A. J. Bucher of Cincinnati, O., delivered an impressive sermon at yesterday afternoon's session of the Northwest German conference at the German Methodist church, he taking the fourth chapter of John as his text.

Dr. Bucher, who is an eloquent speaker, held the attention of the audience, which was especially large, to the last and his remarks were all well chosen.

His talk was divided into two main thoughts, Christ, the wearied wanderer, and Christ, the never tiring worker. He showed how Christ was a laborer who worked as hard as any man, how He endured hardships, and how He never tired in his work and at all times and under all circumstances was ready and willing to do good. He not only sought out the crowds to do good for them but He sought the individuals as well.

Favors Innovations

Dr. Bucher also told of the mission of the church, of church work in general and he admonished his hearers to get out and work to do good and not to be afraid of innovations. The talk proved to be exceptionally good as many important questions were spoken of.

The lay delegates had a meeting at the German Baptist church at Seventh and Winnebago streets, yesterday afternoon, when several topics of interest were discussed. E. C. Kerberg was the temporary chairman while F. Vetsh was the temporary secretary, the election of regular officers for the year being set for a later date.

Purse for Pastor

Rev. E. E. Schuette of Charles City, Iowa, was presented with $50 in gold yesterday noon for being in the Methodist ministry for fifty years. Bishop Nuelson making the presentation speech during dinner at the German Methodist church. Rev. Schuette responded to Bishop Nuelsen's talk with a short address telling of his experiences luring his fifty years in the ministry.

La Crosse Man Honored

Rev. Brandenberg of La Crosse, who is the district superintendent for this section, was presented with a fine rocking chair by the people of his district yesterday afternoon. Rev. Brandenburg has been in the ministry 25 years.

An extra session was called at 1:30 yesterday afternoon to give the committee a chance to present a report on conference relations. Their report was that the suggestion of Rev. William Kerner that there be superannuated relation granted.

Several substitutes for the plan in regard to the superannuated ministers were discussed but they were not definitely decided upon.

AN UNKNOWN KILLED

SOUTHEASTERN TRAIN HITS MAN NEAR STODDARD; MAY BURY BODY AT VIROQUA

An unknown man was instantly killed by Southeastern train No. 2 about seven miles south of this city at 7:30. According to word given out at the La Crosse & Southeastern offices this afternoon, the man was walking south on the tracks when the train, rounding a curve, struck him.

Engineer H. Allen and Fireman Wheeler, who were in charge of the engine, assert that they did not see the man until after they made the turn and that the brakes were immediately applied but not in time to save him from being hit. Conductor John Redman, who was in charge of the train, declared that it was running at a slow rate of speed and that the whistle was blown at the curve. It is thought that the man did not hear the warnings as he made no attempt to get off the tracks.

The Vernon county coroner and district attorney were notified and hurried to the scene of the accident where an examination was made. Nothing that would identify him was found upon his clothing. The coroner held the railroad company blameless.

The remains were later removed to Viroqua where the body will be held for a few days awaiting identification and will be buried at Viroqua if not claimed.

BODY SENT TO LANSING.

The body of Mrs. Herman Haas, who died at a local hospital yesterday morning, was sent to Lansing, Iowa, her home, last evening, and the funeral will be held there today.

Mrs. Haas was 42 years of age and death was caused by cancer.

Austria Threatened

VIENNA, Sept. 30.—Italy began mobilizing troops today on the Austrian frontier. The move is no understood here. The Rome government has long been known to harbor designs for recovery of its Austrian provinces but that it should undertake to do so at a time when it is already involved in war with Turkey, is deemed incredible. Nevertheless, there is much excitement in Austrian government and military circles.

Expert Medical EXAMINATION

AND CONSULTATION FREE

I want to talk to every sufferer. The fact that you have been treated elsewhere without benefit and are skeptical does not discourage me in the least; nearly all of my patients tell of this same experience. I am curing men and women every day and feel sure I can do the same for you. I especially solicit the stubborn, chronic, seemingly incurable cases. Persons who realize the seriousness and gravity of their condition, and will appreciate benefits conferred and the cure I give, come to me for free consultation. I will then explain how different, better and more curative are my methods of treatment than those possessed by others. My special training and long years of experience in treating all Chronic, Nervous, Blood, Pelvic and Special Diseases give me many advantages over the average physician.

I treat Rheumatism, Enlarged Veins, Fistula, Piles, Constipation, All Rectal Diseases, Weak and Unhealthy Kidneys, and Lingering Ailments.

I personally attend everyone who applies for treatment at my office, as I have no incompetent hired doctors to unskillfully treat my patients, and every man who engages my services gets the benefit of the efficiency that has marked my success in the past.

I have cured thousands, many of whom had been given up for lost. If your physical system has been impaired, if your vitality is assailed from overwork or worry, if you are tainted by disease in any form, you owe it to yourself to seek and obtain a restorative power at once.

MY COUNSEL WILL COST YOU NOTHING, BUT MY CHARGES FOR A PERFECT CURE WILL BE REASONABLE AND NOT MORE THAN YOU WILL BE WILLING TO PAY FOR THE BENEFITS CONFERRED.

LADIES CONSULT A SPECIALIST If you are suffering from persistent Headache, Pains in the Back, and feel as if it were impossible for you to endure your troubles and still be obliged to attend to your household and social obligations, I will cure you if you trust yourself to my care. I have treated and cured a great many.

Remember I make this broad statement after putting ten years of my time on this one disease and handling in the mean-time a quarter of a million cases of this dreadful disease. Now, I do not care what all you have used, nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured—all I ask is just a chance to show you that I know what I am talking about. If you will write me TODAY, I will send you a FREE TRIAL of my mild, soothing, guaranteed cure that will convince you more in a day than I or anyone else could in a month's time. PROGRESSIVENESS AS DESCRIBED BY FISHER

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Secretary of the Interior Walter Fisher said yesterday that the incident which he experienced at Hutchinson, Kansas, with Senator Bristow, while President Taft was speaking there, was "simply an amusing illustration of what the newspaper boys will do when they are hunting for a story. There was nothing sensational in the president's admirable review of the history of Kansas and the slavery issue," he said.

"They jumped at my reference to the issues of today and the part which I believed Kansas should and would play. I described two classes of spurious progressives and said that the real progressive was neither the demagogic agitator nor the hypocrite who talks of progress but opposes every practical progressive measure. I left those shoes to be worn by any man in Kansas or elsewhere whose feet they may fit.

"The crowd applauded when I said that the true progressive would go where the president had said he intended to go—down the middle of the road, straight for the goal."

ACCIDENTS MAR SPEED PROGRAM

Two Drivers Hurt when Sulkies Collide in 2:18 Pace Friday Afternoon

MANY RACES ARE CALLED OFF

Only Two Run Yesterday, and Rest of Program Canceled Owing to Late Start

Three men were injured, two sulkies smashed, and several drivers narrowly escaped injury yesterday afternoon during the running of the third heat of the 2:18 pace at the Inter-state fair. Two of the men were injured in a collision just after the start of the third heat, when Onadona, driven by Lon Matthews, of Duluth, and Jeanette C., driven by W. L. Rutherford, Austin, Minn., crashed into each other at the foot of the stretch. Matthews was taken to the La Crosse hospital with a broken leg, and Rutherford sustained a badly wrenched shoulder. Both sulkies were broken, and Jeanette C. was thrown to the ground.

Rutherford, after the heat in which he was thrown, declared that the collision was entirely the fault of Matthews. He stated that Matthews attempted to cross in front of him and take the pole instead of staying in his position, and that as a consequence Jeanette C.'s hoof struck his sulky wheel, tripping the mare and throwing both drivers. The judges, however, decided that the accident was not intentional on the part of either man.

Finishes First.

Onadona finished first in the heat without a driver, and with only one wheel left intact on the sulky. The big bay stallion kept the pole throughout the remainder of the two laps, with the broken wheel of the sulky banging against the fence at every stride. After the finish of the race it was necessary for the handlers of the horse to throw blankets in front of him, breaking his stride and causing him to slow up, before he could be stopped. Both horses that figured in the collision were able to run the fourth and final heat with new drivers.

Break's Driver's Nose.

La Doit, a bay gelding, owned and driven by Frank Jahnke, Winona, broke the nose of his driver during the heat, when he reared and struck his driver in the face with his nose. La Doit proved unmanageable all through the previous heats, causing the starter great trouble in his refusal to turn in time to score down to the wire with the rest of the field. It was necessary for one of the handlers to take him by the bridle at the beginning of each start, and turn him toward the wire. Finally, at the start of the third heat, he refused to turn, and would not answer the rein, beginning to buck and rear. Jahnke dismounted from the sulky at the head of the stretch, and attempted to calm him by holding him by the bit. He suddenly tossed his head and struck his driver in the face, breaking his nose. The horse did not start in any other heat.

The collision in the third heat was the most thrilling affair that has occurred at the fair this year. After several ineffectual attempts to make a start, the horses finally got under the wire in a bunch and Starter Kennedy yelled "go." They had just reached the curve in the first heat, not a hundred feet from the grandstand, when there was a crash, and a cloud of dust was kicked into the air as Rutherford and his horse, Jeanette C., hit the ground. A cry went up from the spectators in the grandstand.

Whtn the dust lifted, Rutherford was slowly getting to his feet, rubbing his shoulder and looking ruefully at his broken sulky. Jeanette C. was lying quietly on her side. Around the turn Onadona was tearing without a break in his pace, but with the snulky bounding and careening as the broken wheel struck the ground. Suddenly, just at the turn into the back stretch, the sulky hit the fence, and Matthews, who was not injured in the first collision, was thrown out. He made several attempts to rise as the field dashed past, but was unable to get to his feet. Finally he was picked up and carried into the paddock, where he was placed in R. B. Goddard's automobile and rushed to the La Crosse hospital.

Lodges Complaint.

In the second heat, Corinnewood, driven by Peter Holmes, Minneapolis, was forced to drop out when the wheel of the sulky was broken by Onadona's forefoot as the horses were strung along the fence. Holmes lodged a complaint with the judges, charging that Matthews caused the smash purposely, but the judges decided that neither man was to blame, and allowed both to start again in the third heat. The accident occurred on the back stretch in the first lap, and was hidden from the judges by the timers' stand.

Both horses in the collision were able to enter the fourth heat, Onadona finishing fourth and Jeanette C. second. Matthews' son drove the last heat after his father was injured.

Races Called Off.

Starter Kennedy at 4 o'clock announced that according to the rules governing racing, all races not started by 4 o'clock of the day advertised to finish the meeting were declared off, and accordingly stated that the rest of the racing program would not be finished. The races run yesterday were the 2:18 pace and the 2:15 trot.

LONDON MARKET IS STIRRED BY WAR

LONDON, Sept. 30.—With hostilities over Tripoli an actuality, England's financial experts were better satisfied today, and yesterday's feeling of uncertainty was replaced today with one of confidence. Following the sharp rise in rates, discounts halted today, but there was more willingness on the part of the banks to buy bills. There was enough cash available today so that the brokers were not compelled to call on the Bank of England for gold. A syndicate was also settling the affairs of the defunct Bank of Egypt on a 60 per cent cash and deferred payment basis.

The stock market was not optimistic, despite the general belief that to cover her embarrassment, Turkey would pick a quarrel with Greece over Crete.

All of the continental bourses were heavy and this kept prices from rising materially on the local exchange, although prices closed a little above lowest points, American stocks being flabby and poorly supported. Fresh losses of three points were recorded in the Turkish securities, while the entire foreign section was heavy. Consols were steady.

The Collector.

The late Edwin A. Abbey had no sympathy with those American millionaires who pay $400,000 or $500,000 for a doubtful Rembrandt or an imputed Fragonard, while painters of genius in their own towns are starving for lack of orders.

Mr. Abbey, at a dinner at his London residence in Tite street, said last year, apropos of the purchase by a New Yorker of a doubtful Titian at an inflated price:

"This type of man knows nothing about art. A man of this type, when Whistler was not yet famous, wanted his wife's portrait done.

"'How much will you charge me, Mr. Whistler,' he said, 'for a lifesize picture of the madam?'

"'My price,' said Whistler, 'will be $2,500.'

"The millionaire took up his hat and stick.

"'Why,' he snorted, turning to go, 'you expect to be paid for your work as if you had been dead 400 or 500 years!'"

Retaining Self-Respect.

There is a beautiful harmony between the good of the state and the moral freedom and dignity of the individual. Were these interests in any case discordant, were an individual ever called to serve his country by acts debasing his own mind, he ought not to waver for a moment as to the good which he should prefer. His soul he must never stain or enslave. From poverty, pain, the rack, the gibbet, he should not recoil; but for no good of others ought he to part with self-control or violate the inward law. —W. E. Channing.

HOTEL GUESTS FLEE FIRE

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Five families were rescued and 126 patrons of the Brunswick hotel, Canal and Randolph streets, fled in scanty attire early today when fire, starting from an unknown cause in an adjoining building occupied by the Magie Brothers' Oil company, threatened to imperil their lives.

Two firemen, Lieutenant Charles Bidbaye and Thomas Anderson, were overcome by the smoke and were saved from being burned to death by quick work on the part of other firemen who lifted the prostrate men from the burning four story building to the hotel roof.

The loss is estimated at $75,000.

MYSTERY OF THE HOUSEHOLD

Disappearance and Return of Lady's Summer Dress Couldn't Be Laid to the Servant.

Up spoke the woman who likes to keep her apartment in order:

"A household mystery happens once in awhile," she said. "I had one a few days ago about a summer dress that I bought last fall when the weather was too cold to wear it. I packed it away and forgot about it until the other day. Then I went to the box in a certain closet where I knew I had put it. The dress wasn't there. I looked through the rest of the closet without any better success. Then I got excited and turned everything upside down everywhere that I thought it could be. Finally I went into the storeroom and looked through all the trunks. Not a sign of it. So I had to give it up.

"Later my servant brought me a box which had come up the dumb waiter. Inside was my dress. There wasn't a mark on the box to show that it belonged to me. The only explanation I could think of was that some one had taken it, found that it didn't fit and had decided to return it."

"It never occurred to you, did it, that that some one could have been your servant?" she was asked.

"No, it didn't," said she with a smile. "You see, he's a Jap."—New York Sun.

The Last Word.

"What's the first word in the dictionary?" asked the student.

"The article 'a' of course," replied Mr. Growcher.

"And what's the last word?"

"Ask my wife. She's an expert on the subject."—Washington Star.

HAD NO PERMIT FOR DOGGIE

So the Woman Dropped Her Pet Off the Car and Resumed Her Seat.

The little woman with the laundry blue and gangrenous green flowers on her hat all scrambled up into a Wilton rug design got on the car carrying a dog. It was one of those aristocratic, foolish-looking dogs that couldn't overtake a Welsh rabbit.

"Got a permit for that dawg?" asked the conductor when he came around for the woman's fare. "Haven't? Then you'll have to get off the car."

"Well, I'll not get off the car," retorted the woman.

"You can't stay on here with that dog unless you've got a dog permit," insisted the conductor.

The woman got up, dog under one arm, as if to get off. But as she rose she repeated: "I'll not get off. So there!"

Still, she walked to the rear platform as if in contradiction of her own assertion. The conductor was ready to signal the motorman to stop.

But the woman had declared she wasn't going to get off, and she intended to keep her word. She poised the dog carefully in her palms, tossed him off into the street, at the same time bidding him "Go home!"

Then she came back into the car and dropped languidly into her seat with a bored tilt to her face.

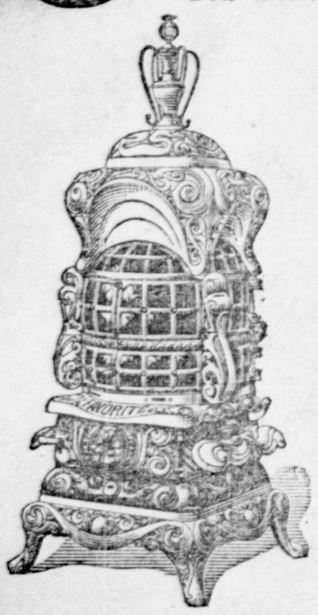

UNCLEAN BAKERIES

Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—There was a choppy market in wheat today, but the volume of business was disappointing. This is partly explained by the popular indisposition to assume week-end risks to carry over Sunday. The general public has apparently taken little interest in the Italian-Turkish troubles from a market standpoint.

Wet weather has been the strengthening factor in corn. Rain fell unexpectedly over a wide area west of Central Iowa and Missouri over night and the storm is now officially forecasted as progressing eastward. Corn prices have made only a modest gain.

Oats have been subject to frequent irregular changes within narrow price limits, but have shown some strength. Cash sales 140,000 bushels.

Provisions started out strong on war new which is usually a bullish factor in provisions, but advances met free selling by a large packing concern, which was marketing lard freely.

FAIR WEEK DANCE SERIES SUCCESSFUL

Maeder's orchestra, which has been giving dances during fair week in Linker hall, has established a record this week for attendance at a dance in the city. There has not been a night since the beginning of the series, that Maeder has not drawn a crowd of about 600 people. The final dance of the series will be given this evening, and a record-breaking crowd is expected.

It is easier to climb down a tree than to climb up, which explains why the top is never crowded and why there is always room there.

DIAMOND DUST

There weren't but three games yesterday so this is one day when writing this "colyum" is like beating the boss out of money.

They meet again, do those Subs and Giants, and it will be almost as interesting a scrap as they're now pulling off over there in the Mediterranean.

Even with five and a half game lead, McGraw and his hired men admit they're getting just a little nervous; which same they'd better get over, or Connie'll get 'em if they don't look out.

Ty Cobb was the whole show in the Washington game, getting ten put outs in center field, in addition to lacing out two triples and a double and scoring three runs.

The Tigers drove Hughes out of the box and defeated the Senators zy to 9 to 5.

Three Rustlers, among them Sir Mike Donlin were banished in the eleven inning affray with the Reds, which ended in a 4 to 4 tie.

Alexander the Great, gave the Pirates eight hits in the battle of Prevasa, but his team-mates boarded the Pirate craft and sent her on the rocks, by a score of 7 to 4.

Nap Rucker, who was permitted to go to his Georgia home, has been recalled by the Infants to take part in the seven game series against the Giants.

It was some game, that second set-to, and what the Cubs did to the "Peerless" Mathewson is just about what the Athletics will do to him later on in the season.

If some of these Cub twirlers had pitched half so well in mid-summer as they are now that it is cold and wet and bleak, they would surely have drawn down a percentage of the world's championship series.

To make assurance doubly sure, young Mr. Danforth held the Naps safe while his team mates pounded Krapp and Reiseigl and the Athletics won easily by 9 to 3.

"Stuffy" McInnis, Mac's slugging first baseman, hit on the finger by Pitcher Mullin of the Tigers may be unable to participate in the world's series. His arm is to be X-rayed.

Young Mr. O'Brien from Denver way, showed cultured Boston and the uncultured White Sox some real twirling, the Red Sox winning by 6 to 3. O'Brien struck out nine of the Sox, McConnell fanning thrice.

While you can't sing it to the tune of Danny Deever, you might write the music to what promises to be a most popular ballad, later to be entitled "They're Knocking Marty O'Toole Out of the Box."

Walter Johnson and Summers engaged in a real twirling duel, with honors even, but Gaynor's inexcusable error permitted the Senators to slip over the winning run, the Tigers losing by 2 to 1.

Reference to that 18 to 12 victory of the Yankees over the St Louis Browns would be to add levity to a column otherwise sad an sedate. That's the reason it is omitted.

WALL STREET AS U. S. BAD EXAMPLE

President of Notre Dame Talks on Power of Money at Eucharistic Congress

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30.—The money power of Wall street was declared today by Rev. John Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame university, speaker before the national eucharistic congress, to be one of America's most dangerous forces, brutalizing and despiritualizing men. "Wall street," he said, "is our national bad example, simply because it is so successful. Of course, it has its failures, but we read mostly of millions acquired by a single coup and we catch the contagion of the money craze.

"Money has been enshrined there and God banished.

"Materialism has its political economy, its pagan theory of property. Its theory of ownership without responsibility toward the needy.

"It has its special system in which divorce—sometimes even free love—is a prominent feature. It has its richly endowed educational system from which God is banished.

"It has so-called philanthropists who pretend to aid in progress and uplifting humanity by bestowing fabulous wealth on various causes, while ostentatiously excluding religions from their benefactions."

RALPH CAPRON IS ELIGIBLE

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 30.—Ralph Capron, third member of the now famous athletic family of Caprons of whom much is expected in Minnesota football circles this season, has successfully pased off his condition in materia medica. Capron took the examination Thursday afternoon. Yesterday the official announcement was made that he had passed.

Ralph Capron has given promise of being a wonderful football player. He is eligible to play in the game against Ames this afternoon, but may be kept on the side lines as the middle finger on his right hand was broken in practice early this week and is not mended sufficiently to allow free use of the hand.

PROGRESSIVES IN NEW MEXICO TO MEET

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Sept. 30. — Trouble is already brewing for the republican stand-patters of New Mexico. Holm M. Bursum, of Socorro, was nominated for governor of the new state yesterday. Progressive republicans had already called a mass meeting to organize the progressives of the state into a new party.

The avowed intention is to nominate Herbert J. Hagerman for governor at a progressive state convention at Santa Fe, October 4. This is the day after the democratic state convention, and it is believed the progressives plan to effect a combination with the democrats.

Few men know what is good for them until some wise woman has told them.

FARM IMPLEMENTS ATTRACT VISITORS

La Crosse Plow Company's Display Includes All Kinds of Farm Machinery

Without a doubt one of the most attractive displays on the fair grounds was that of the La Crosse Plow Co. Not only was the display attractively arranged but a trip through the big exhibit of the La Crosse company has its educational value.

Plows for different farming localties were shown. There were special design for the hilly country, still another model for the "gumbo" soil and still others for different soils and localities. The display of farm implements, which is said to be the largest ever shown at any fair included practically every piece of machinery or implement known to the modern day farmer.

There are 44 varieties of hand plows, no two of which are alike, and all of which are handled by the company. Then there were different sizes of grain drills, one to answer the purpose in the several states.

A low down spreader proved to be one of the features of this department for it is a new departure. Another interesting display was formed by the various kinds of machinery which are made by the company to meet the requirements in the different countries of the world, one variety being made especially for Argentina.

Engines Exhibited

Seven sizes of the Sta-Rite engine, which can be used for anything which needs motorpower on the farm, were included in the exhibit and they were kept in operation all the time, showing how they can be put to good use for practically any purpose.

A combined washing machine and wringer, cream separators, drills, hay loader, spreaders, and cutters were in one part and they were kept in operation all the time so that one might see just how these useful articles work.

The larger farm implements, such as binders, were to be found outside the shed and they formed an interesting exhibit alone.

The Imperial and the Krit automobiles, which are sold by the Plow company, were exhibited in one part of the shed and another display of carriages completed the exhibit.

Everything made and sold by the company was on display to fair visitors.

Tyler proved stingy with hits but liberal with bases on balls. Gaspar was hard it, but was effective with men on bases.

GOV. DIX WOULD STOP FIGHTING

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Gov. Dix has sent to the legislature a special message urging repeal of the law creating the state boxing commission.

"When this bill came before me for signature," the governor says in his message, "I believed that it would prevent the disorderly and unregulated exhibitions of boxing which have been given in this state for the last few years. The brief experience with the existing law has satisfied me that it is not adapted to produce such a result. The conditions which have arisen under it are hostile to the feelings and the interests of the law abiding citizens of the state, and should be ended at once. I have already taken such steps as I can, under the law, to prevent it."

VIOLINS CAUST ARREST

Gus Walters, this city, was arrested by Sheriff E. Bergemeyer of Elkader, Clayton county, Iowa, and taken to that city, where he will await trial on the charge of larceny. Walters is alleged to have undertaken to sell a number of violins for a firm at McGregor on commission and to have kept the proceeds.

Every dog has his day, and too many of them have their nights also.

COACH STAGG BUSY ON FOOTBALL TEAM

Coach A. A. Stagg, University of Chicago and Captain Radamacher.

CHICAGO, Ill.—Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago football team is devoting a great part of his efforts to the developing of the kicking department in his squad. He is also beginning to develop formations which he will try out against the opponents later on this season. Secret practice will be maintained throughout the year. Capt. Rademacher is in fine shape for the strenuous work of the next two months.

Clark Sauer and "Red" Paine are showing up to fine advantage in running back punts. Paine is spoken of as a quarterback possibility.
